Jan Václav Stamic

Katerina Barbora Kobzinová

Karel Havlíček Borovský

Bedřich Smetana

Jaroslav Hašek
Dělná Stěra
House No. 138 – The former Brod
Discounter Augustinian order was lodging in this house during the years of its occupation in Brod in the years 1766–1768. Students used to sleep here before and after Sunday mass.

 Hájovský House (No. 48) – A 4-apartment building of the 17th century, located on the street Na Hůrce (1624–1632) and in 1782 it was added to the map by the surveyor.

Kobzín House (No. 95) – In the year 1923, Paul Kohář established a restaurant with the name Bohemia.

Old Pharmacy (No. 18) – Originally the house of Bukovský from the 16th century. Later on (since 1815) it had been the residence of the Discalced Augustinian order. The former monastery of Štáflova Street.

House Rejnovský (No. 160) – An inn used to be here in the years 1760–1765.

Havlíčkovo náměstí Square
B. Kobzinové Street
– The composer Bedřich Smetana stayed in lodgings with Mrs. Billanská during his studies at the gymnasium in Brod. His father, famous journalist and writer Jaroslav Hašek (1921–1923) used to visit him.

Suchánkovský House (No. 51) – In the years 1763–1767. The house was bought by the merchant Matěj Havlíček in Německý Brod.

K. Havlíček’s House (No. 19) – This house was bought by Václav Stamic in 1835. It is assumed that the first house of Antonín Stamic was built here in the years 1827–1828.

Romantický House (No. 179) – K. Havlíček used to come here regularly to buy tobacco after his return from Brixen. Tobacco was dispensed from the local store to the wide surroundings.

Dubovský House (No. 40) – The house has been preserved with Gabriela Konečná. From 1841 till 1843 she rented the house to Antonín Smetana. Here he recorded his first music and composed his first symphony. In 1836–1839. Students used to meet here during their studies at the gymnasium in Brod. Later on, the house was owned by Antonín Stamic.

Havlíčkovo náměstí square
– At the beginning of the 20th century, Karel Havlíček lived here in lodgings with his family in Brod.

Old Piano House (No. 21) – In the year 1832. The mansion is mentioned in the 17th century. The house has been the residence of the Czech scientist Václav Stamic.

House U Zlatého lva (No. 176) – The oldest house in the town, used to be here in the 14th century, burned down in the 18th century and rebuilt in 1827. Since the year 1966, the house has been the residence of the notable personalities of the Brod in the 19th century.

Romantický House (No. 179) – K. Havlíček used to come here regularly to buy tobacco after his return from Brixen. Tobacco was dispensed from the local store to the wide surroundings.

House U Černého orla (No. 158) – Burgess, organist and painter Antonín Ignác Stamic bought the house from the parish office of the decanal church and on the 19th June 1717 his wife Rozina Böhmová, born in the house, gave birth to the most famous Brod native, the musical composer Jan Antonín Stamic.

House Rejnovský (No. 160) – An inn used to be here in the years 1760–1765. Its former owner was the famous Brod native, the musical composer Jan Antonín Stamic.

House U Zlatého lva (No. 176) – The largest house in the town, used to be here in the 14th century, burned down in the 18th century and rebuilt in 1827. Since the year 1966, the house has been the residence of the notable personalities of the Brod from the 19th century. The house has been the residence of the famous Brod native, the musical composer Jan Antonín Stamic.

Romantický House (No. 179) – K. Havlíček used to come here regularly to buy tobacco after his return from Brixen. Tobacco was dispensed from the local store to the wide surroundings.

The bastion Štáflova bašta
– The fortification bastion Štáflova bašta has served as a monument of the painter Otakar Štáfl since the year 1957. Panoramic pictures of the notable personalities of the Brod have been displayed here since the year 2015.

The Park Boudounek
– The former Lutheran church has been re-opened as a memorial of the poet Otto Kallina. A new path of this street used to be the castle park. The castle park in Německý Brod in 1735 has also been opened to the public.

House U Zlatého lva (No. 176) – The largest house in the town, used to be here in the 14th century, burned down in the 18th century and rebuilt in 1827. Since the year 1966, the house has been the residence of the notable personalities of the Brod from the 19th century. The house has been the residence of the famous Brod native, the musical composer Jan Antonín Stamic.